NOTABLE SPEAKERS TO VISIT KENTUCKY

Harding To Speak in State; Roosevelt And Morrow At Hartford

A host of Republican notables will address the voters of Kentucky during the next few weeks.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., "fighting Teddy", arrives in Kentucky Sunday night, October 3, and will make a swing across the Commonwealth, covering a number of counties. The Colonel is scheduled to speak several days in the mountain counties. He is loved by the mountain folk almost as much as was his noted father, and many demands have been made for him since the campaign opened. The Colonel will be accompanied on his trip by Governor Morrow and a prominent woman speaker. The state speakers' bureau is busy today arranging his itinerary, which takes them to Hartford Monday, Sept. 4, where they are to speak at one o'clock.

Senators Borah and Beveridge are among many other notables who will speak to the voters of Kentucky during the next month, according to announcement by the bureau.

Much interest attaches at present to Senator Harding's swing into the state. Elaborate preparations are being made here for his Louisville speech, scheduled for October 14, which is to follow the address at Ashland on September 29, next Wednesday. The Louisville address will be delivered at the Gypsy Smith Tabernacle. Chesley H. Searcy state chairman, announced today that a leading woman will preside at the meeting.

Women Active.

Women's activities in Kentucky under the direction of Mrs. John W. Langley, chairman of the State Women's Bureau, are well under way.

Mrs. George W. Johnson, of Georgetown, has been appointed by Mrs. Langley as her executive secretary and personal assistant. Mrs. A. M. Coffman, of Louisville, also will be an assistant in the department.

One of the big features of the women's work will be the spacious headquarters, exclusively for women, to be opened next Monday in the Alamo Theater Building here. These headquarters will be in charge of Miss Hattie Hoffman, head of women's activities for the Fifth District.

An example of the way in which the women are rallying to the Republican cause is found in the report of the county chairman of Rockcastle County, received at headquarters today, showing that a Republican woman election officer has accepted appointment in every precinct in that county.

NAVY BALLOON COMES DOWN NEAR McHENRY

McHenry, Sept. 28. The balloon, U. S. Navy, made a short stop in McHenry Sunday at 1:15 P. M. The U. S. Navy was one of the six or eight balloons competing in the National Balloon race from Birmingham, Ala., to Washington, D. C. It was commanded by Lt. R. Emerson and Lt. Frank Sloman. They stopped fifteen minutes here, unloading about a hundred and fifty pounds of maps and other articles to be sent by express to Washington. For the weight they put out they put back two bags of Mitchell Smith's best soil. There was a large crowd witnessed the landing of the monster bag of gas. It was a great treat for the young folks and some of the older ones, who had not seen one. As soon as the big basket touched the ground the crowd began firing questions into the officers in charge so fast forty men could not have answered them. As they said they had only fifteen minutes to stay it looked like every one wanted to ask them something and the fifteen minutes were soon gone and so was the balloon, without much information being given. Some of us got well paid for our run to see them land, when we had to put the several pounds of express on our backs and carry it thru Mr. Smith's sweet potato patch and almost a mile to the express office. There were two more balloons sighted a few miles east of here.

There will be another National balloon race start from Birmingham, October 23rd. Let us hope they will drift our way and treat us with another landing, but keep their express in the big basket or land a little near the express office, and I bet Mr. Smith will say thanks if they don't land in his sweet potato patch again. SAM MILLER.

CITY BAKERY INSTALLS DOUGH MIXING MACHINE

The City Bakery, owned and operated by W. C. Schlemmer, has installed an up-to-date machine for mixing and working dough. It is power driven and capable of mixing about 150 to 200 pounds of flour at one time. It is of highly enameled steel and as thoroughly sanitary as possible to produce. It is so constructed that a moulder may be attached and altogether a great labor-saving device.

Bill believes in progress and says that his customers are entitled to the best, besides, the more dough he mixes the more dough he gets.

Mrs. Barrass would have been 70 years of age Nov. 7th. She was born in County Durham, England, married in early life to Nicholas Barrass, who preceded her in death some years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Barrass immigrated to this country about 50 years ago, settling at Zanesville, Ohio, where they resided four or five years, going from that place to Central City, where they remained only a short time, coming to Ohio County in 1874 or 1875. Mrs. Barrass is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. Harve Williams, of Beaver Dam, and five sons, John, of Herrin, Ill., E. G., of Hartford, Will, of Jaonville, Ind., Thomas and Nicholas, of Taylor Mines.

NAVAL BALLOONS FLY OVER COUNTY

Several, if not all of thirteen Naval balloons, which left Birmingham, Ala., late in the day of the 25th of September, in a contest for the National championship, passed over Ohio County Sunday, some entering the County early in the morning and others during the day, ranging to late in the afternoon. The balloon making the greatest distance in a straight course is to win the championship. We did not converse with any occupants of the balloons and therefore do not know of the details, but presume that the contest will be determined by endurance and piloting ability.

JUDGE HASWELL IN GOOD SPEECH HERE

Judge John P. Haswell Jr., of Hardinburg, Republican Nominee for Congress from this district, spoke to a fair sized audience at the Court house Monday. Judge Haswell used the major portion of his time in discussing the League of Nations. He took the position that the league was in no sense a partisan, or at least should not be a partisan question. He told how 22 Democratic Senators had voted for reservations, how the Democratic State of Georgia, in a three-cornered race for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, with two strong anti-Leagueurs to only one out and out for it, had given the coveted nomination to Watson, the most bitter and uncompromising opponent of the League, thereby indicating that approximately two-thirds of the Georgia Democrats were against it. Then too, he stressed the fact that Anna had just given more than 66,000 majority against the League in an election held there. These two special instances wherein the question of adoption of the League was the chief, in fact the only real issue, he argued with telling effect, showed that both Democrats and Republicans were undoubtedly against adoption of Wilson's League. In its present form, notwithstanding the fact that both Wilson and Cox were undertaking to make it a partisan issue. War expenditures also came in for discussion. He showed how the United States had spent thirty billions of dollars in the 19 months she was in war while England spent many millions less and was in war two and one-half times longer and had some three million more men under arms than did America. Altogether it was a splendid argument, clearly setting forth the things he stood for and against. Judge Haswell will complete a tour of the County Saturday which will have carried him into every action, with telling effect.

ROAD WORK PROGRESSING DESPITE LABOR SHORTAGE

Notwithstanding the scarcity of labor and teams, grading on the section of the Hartford-Owensboro State aid road, from Peda to Barnett Creek, is reported as being 75 per cent completed. Gravel and cement has been delivered but the concrete work is being delayed on account of inability to secure steel for reinforcement purposes, though receipt of it is daily expected.

JESSE L. SHEFFIELD FOUND—NOW AT HOME

As a result of the publication of a cut and notice of the disappearance etc., of Jesse L. Sheffield, from his home near here, in May last, he was located by his father last week, at Miller City, Ill. The lad when approached by his father, Mr. A. A. Sheffield, was willing to return home and accompanied his father on his return and at once entered school here.

A farmer of near Grand Rivers, for whom the Sheffield lad had worked some three or four weeks last spring, received a letter from the boy requesting that he forward to him a pair of leggins that he had left on leaving the farmer's home, and it so happened that he had noticed the boy's picture and the advertisement in a Kansas City paper, whom he readily recognized as being the boy who had worked for him. He at once sent the letter received from the lad and also wrote Mr. Sheffield fully explaining, which made the location an easy matter.

MRS. ELIZABETH CAMPBELL

Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell died at the home of her son, Walter B. Campbell, Tuesday afternoon, of bronchial pneumonia, although she had been in poor health for some time. Mrs. Campbell was near 67 years of age, daughter of Isaac and Rebecca Shown and the widow of C. R. Campbell, who died several years ago. Funeral services were conducted from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial took place at Oakwood.

Mrs. Campbell is survived by one son, Walter B., and four daughters: Mrs. James Pirtle, Mrs. John Brown, of Hartford, Mrs. H. M. Hauser, Spencer, Ind., and Mrs. Ernest Shown, of Peda.

Sallinger's store suffered the heaviest loss. It may reach $75,000, but the buildings and stock of Glipes shoe store, Daman's millinery store, the Bryan shoe store and Hardwick's jewelry store were also damaged by the flames and water. Extraordinary efforts of the firemen prevented the destruction of the entire block.

FIND $2,225,000 THEY DIDN'T KNOW EXISTED

An investigation has been started by Chicago revenue officials into the presence of the sum of $2,225,000 in the vaults of the Federal building there, with no record of its source. The money was discovered when officials of a corporation called in to explain why they had failed to pay $225,000 taxes, produced receipts showing they had paid.

The money was found in the vault, but the Government's duplicate receipt had been lost and no record made on the books. The remainder of the $2,225,000 is believed also to have been collected as income taxes.—R. F. D. News.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. "My another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy."

LEAGUE REGARDED AS DEAD

European papers and speakers seem to think that the league plan is doomed to fail. They point out the numerous cases lately where the nations—including those supposed to be members of the league—have openly violated the league principles.

The Fortnightly Review says: "When President Wilson came to Europe to assume direction of affairs in the Old World about which he knew nothing and cared less, he threw into all councils not a pledge of peace but a brand of discord, and it remains an inscrutable mystery how the allied leaders could have allowed that 'red herring' dragged across the trail to lead them all astray. By jumbling the two issues—the peace and the league—together the international situation has been worsened instead of improved and the outlook reveals no end to the possibilities of strife and conflict."

All you who have torpid liver, weak digestion or constipated bowels look out for chills. The season is here and the air is full of the disease germ. WILSON IS IN FIGHT REPUBLICANS ELATED

Viewed As Last Effort To Avert Apparent Landslide.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Republicans in Congress are elated over the prospect as announced by Democratic leaders, of injecting President Wilson into the campaign in the hope that he may stem the swiftly-rising tide of Democratic defeat.

Both the President and his pet league of nations covenant have become so unpopular as evidenced by the vote against them in Georgia, that his active participation in the fight for a pact which he has declared will do more than anything else could do to keep us out of war will complete the impending overthrow of his party.

Hannis Taylor, former minister to Spain, and one of the leading authorities on the constitution, says:

"The leaders at San Francisco who fancied that they had finally disposed of Mr. Wilson's ambitions and intrigues for a third term now perceive that they entirely underestimated his resources. In Bulwer's play of 'Richelieu' the crafty old Cardinal at a critical moment, when he was about to be swept out of place and power, turned to Joseph and said that the time had arrived when 'we must place out the lion's skin with the fox's.' At just such a moment Mr. Wilson, with consummate boldness and craft, has baffled his adversaries in the same way by seizing upon the ostensible acquiescence and making of him his abject vassal and mouthpiece. The iron-bound terms of the oath of fealty were reduced to writing, registered and proclaimed to the people on that fatal Sunday morning before the guardians of Governor Cox could save him from 'the shirt of Nessus' now firmly fixed upon him. Cold must be the heart that has witnessed without pity his desperate effort to escape from such a situation through the ludicrous outcry just made in his speech of acceptance—I thank God I take up the stand of Democracy a free man, unfettered by promises."

"If that be true, then, as a free man, he has solemnly pledged himself to drag us, as soon as he possibly can, into the whirlpool of European wars by a ratification of the unholy and anti-American Wilson Covenant which will force perpetual bond issues from a treasury burdened already to the breaking point, and perpetual conscription of American youths to die upon foreign battlefields in causes not their own. The time has arrived when all American patriots regardless of party—men and women, fathers and mothers—must stand together for the protection of their firesides against such a deadly menace designed by Mr. Wilson and now promoted by Mr. Cox."

Taylor continues:

"Worn out by the excesses and illegalities of a political Dictatorship, constructed upon the ruins of the presidency through a complicated network of war statutes entirely applicable to a state of peace, the American people now demand the immediate repeal of the same. They perfectly understand that the real motive for the abrupt prolongation of a technical state of war, for years after it has ceased to exist in fact, is to enable the Executive power to perform many abnormal acts, under the cover of war statutes, manifestly illegal in time of peace. They resent the grave and scandalous assaults upon the sacred writ of habeas corpus made by the Executive Power; the harsh enforcement of un-American edition laws generally regarded by all calm and non-partisan jurists as unconstitutional; the many violent and indefensible encroachments that have been made upon our system of representative government, and upon the right of freedom of speech. Let us return to the faith of our fathers; let us re-establish the Constitution as they made it."

You can buy Goodyear Tires today at prices which are no higher than they were ten years ago.

And from these tires you can now obtain more actual mileage due to advancements made by Goodyear in their construction since 1910.

The present cost of Goodyear mileage therefore is decidedly less and this fact applies to all the line, including the 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch size Goodyear Tires built especially for small cars.

KISS PRIMA DONA AT $3.00 PER SMACK

The next time you go to the theater, if a pretty show girl sings "Come to my arms and kiss me," just keep your seat. Charles Solcher, 19 years old, thinking the offer bona fide, jumped from his seat and climbed over the footlights in a New York Theater, kissing the leading lady. When brought to court he heard the same song by the same singer but it did not have the same appeal; the judge had arranged this special performance for the benefit of the court, and after the song was finished, he fined the young man $3 for his indiscretion. Of course if the men should ever get their rights, the law would then protect them against the overtures of the professional "vamps."

"SOME" BASEBALL FAN.

You've heard of baseball fans who would go without dinner in order to see an extra inning game or would walk long distances to see a world's series game—but here's the champion fan of the world—a girl.

Betty Hess, who holds down second base on the champion girls' baseball team of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., at Akron, Ohio, recently set her wedding day ahead so that she could accompany the team to Pittsburgh, Pa., to play the girls from the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Learning that a game had been scheduled on the same day that she had already chosen as her wedding day, Betty conferred with her fiancé, Howard Andres, about putting the wedding ahead.

As much a fan as she, Andres agreed, and they were married two days before the Westinghouse game. She played a great game and helped Goodyear win decisively.

"I might have called that my honeymoon, only Howard wouldn't go along," Mrs. Andres said after the game, "but we expect to take a real honeymoon trip after the baseball season is over!"

GASOLINE WASTE

If each of the 7,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States wasted half a gallon of gasoline a day, the total amount of fuel wasted would be 1,332,250,000 gallons annually—$333,062,500 thrown away yearly.

These figures, estimated by the truck tire department of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, indicate that the waste of gasoline throughout America has assumed serious proportions and that there is an immediate need of conservation.

If the drivers of all passenger cars and motor trucks were careful to coast up to stops, on down grades, had carburetors properly adjusted, did not race their motors when starting and did not let them run idle, 800,000,000 gallons of gasoline could be saved annually. At an average price of 25 cents a gallon, the total saving in money would amount to $200,000,000—enough to build 5,000 miles of improved roads.

After Thorough Trial a Detroit, Mich., Man Endorses Pe-ru-na

The following letter written from Detroit, Michigan is no snap judgment expressed on the merits of Pe-ru-na, the well-known cathartic remedy, but rather a mature, sober opinion formed after a full year's trial.

This is the way Mr. Michael Fako of 906 East Palmer Avenue, in the Michigan Metropolitan, writes: "After using PE-RU-NA for about one year I will say I have found it a very good medicine for catarrh. It has helped me a great deal and I am very well satisfied. I have gained in weight, eat and sleep well, my bowels are regular and better color in my face."

"PE-RU-NA has done wonders and to me is worth its weight in gold. I shall continue to use PE-RU-NA as long as I live and recommend it to my friends who are troubled with catarrh." Nothing can be more convincing than an endorsement of this nature from an actual user. There are many people in every community whose experience, in using Pe-ru-na, has been identical with Mr. Fako's. It is the standby for coughs, colds, catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders and all catarrhal conditions. Put up in both tablet and liquid form. SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Why Doctors Treat the Blood with Iron

When the doctor treats your blood, he gives you iron, for iron is said to be the best thing in all medicine to build up the blood. Sometimes he does this by regulating your diet—sometimes he administers iron in the form of pills or tonics. But always he is seeking a way to get more iron into your blood—he is trying to put back this great builder of health and strength.

Quick Improvement from New Form of Iron

The new way to restore iron to the blood—the surest and most dependable of all methods—is through the use of Acid Iron Mineral. This is a natural form of soluble iron, found in Nature itself, combined with other highly beneficial remedial agents. The story of the discovery of this new form of iron reads almost like a fairy tale and medical science has proved its remarkable blood-making powers beyond question or doubt.

Acid Iron Mineral may be procured in either liquid or the more convenient tablet form at any drug store. It contains no alcohol or injurious drugs and will not blacken the teeth. It has been especially noted that pale, puny children, weak, run-down persons and those enfeebled by age show improvement and exhibit increased strength almost immediately after starting treatment.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President—
WARREN G. HARDING.
For Vice President—
CALVIN COOLIDGE.
For U. S. Senator—
RICHARD P. ERNST.
For Congress—
JOHN P. HASWELL, JR.

15,000 people were on hands to hear Senator Harding at Ashland Wednesday. A great speech was delivered, but the Courier-Journal will probably object to the form of English used.

If Cox is elected President, Burleson
in all probability will be retained as the Czar of the Postal Department, as Wilson has kept him over the protests of the entire Nation and of course Cox would not turn him out, because he stands for Wilson in all things. Will 750,000 female relatives of Postal employees whom this autocrat has endeavored to disfranchise, stand for it when given a chance to be heard on election day?

The $2,225,000 recently found in the vaults of the Federal building in Chicago, for which there was absolutely no record showing from whom it was collected or for what purpose it was paid in, might be transferred to the Democratic campaign fund, as they claim to be poverty stricken and without funds. Everybody reasonably knows that it was collected as income taxes, yet no entries had been made upon the books and even the duplicate receipts had disappeared in the collection of these funds from taxpayers.

Postmaster General Burleson has had an order promulgated that forbids the women members of Carriers families and others, taking part in politics. If you happen to be the wife, daughter, or maybe a sister or near cousin to some rural carrier, by Burleson's order you stand disfranchised, in so far as your giving aid to the candidate of your choice is concerned. A carrier's wife or daughter has as good a right to assist in the election of the candidate of her choice as has the Secretary of War or Burleson himself, who journeyed to San Francisco to take part in the Democratic convention. We wonder what the women will say to this sort of Kaiserism on November the 2nd.

Some good Democratic lady said in a speech the other day that Kentucky sold her birthright when she delivered herself from the hands of Mat Cohen, Barksdale Hamlet, and the Stanley-Black denim cloth administration. More than 40,000 majority of Kentucky's legally qualified electors assented to and signed the bill of sale and thousands of others were and are still truly glad that the transfer was made. No it was not Kentucky that sold her birthright, it was merely an outraged citizenship that transferred it from the keeping of those who had so wantonly abused it to a new regime, and to date no Democratic newspaper of note, within the state, has withheld words of commendation

from the new keepers of the Old State's birthright.

Democrats say that the United States is morally bound to confirm Wilson's pledge to the world and approve and become a party to the League. Yet they tell us in the next breath that America would not be bound to support article X. Wilson had no right, implied or otherwise, to bind us to approve and become members of the pact, and should the Nation adopt it no one with any sense of a real moral obligation could for a moment argue that we would not be bound to see the thing thru, no matter what the cost in blood and treasure might be. When the United States becomes a party to the League as now written, there can be no doubt that we occupy the same position in our relations to the rest of the world, that is other Nations, parties to the League, as a Grantor in a general warranty deed. We stand behind their territorial boundaries, as awarded by the Commission, with the last drop of blood coursing through the veins of our young manhood, and to the bottommost dollar that can be drained from every American taxpayer.

The current issue of the Herald settles forever the question of the enormity of the Republican campaign fund to be spent in Ohio county. It stated that H. Green Garrett said in plain English that $125,000 would be needed for the State, then it figures that this county's proportionate share would be $1,041.58.
So the question is therefore closed.
The Herald knows whereof it speaks,
it has in sight no less than that sum to combat. We doubt if the Herald believes that the half of that sum will be spent in Kentucky. But even the figures closely, figure a little generously than we think, to get rid of a one-man rule and save the United States from entering the League of Nations and becoming embroiled and entangled in every dispute between all Nations of the earth, the price would be cheap, dirt cheap. No man with sense enough to go in when it rains will argue that a campaign can be made on wind, and to argue or infer that either party will do so is pure hypocrisy. We have not yet seen any notice in the Herald of the assessment of $40 each on girls and women in the Aberdeen, S. D., Internal revenue office, although it says that Louisville policemen have been assessed at the rate of $25.00 each and others in proportion. There are 400 policemen in that city and The Herald figures that $35,000 will be raised by that method. Look at us just what part we had played in yourself. These male policemen are by $15.00 each better off than the girls, who work for the Democrats.
The Herald winds up in a manner that undoubtedly clinches the whole matter of campaign boodle by giving a number of little alleged quotations
at the end of which are the words:
"BUT BOYS GET THE MONEY" the last of which we reproduce word for word: "Senator Harding said in the U. S. Senate on June 8th, 1917:
"Much of the sentiment uttered concerning our part in the war is balder-dash, BUT BOYS GET THE MON-EY." Now we give it "p. If that last paragraph does not prove in a most brilliant and conclusive manner that the Herald is right, then we will vote for Cox, maybe. Do you believe that Harding said "BUT BOYS GET THE MONEY." To make the matter more clear will the Herald tell us just what we had played in the the war on June 8, 1917. Those lines compare favorably with "HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR" VOTE FOR WIL-SON, PEACE AND PLENTY" and PITILESS PUBLICITY was another favorite slogan once upon a time, and since that date, especially within the past two years every time a Democratic officeholder or a department has been investigated, the charge has been made that public money was being spent for partisan purposes. No more pitiless publicity is now needed. But pardon us, we have strayed from the original question. What we asked the Herald to do was to tip off the location of this enormous fund or Ohio County. It replied by saying some half-dozen times "BUT BOYS GET THE MONEY" and that H. G.

Garrett said in plain English that Kentucky would need $125,000, and there is a vast difference between needing and having in possession, and thus we seem to be no nearer the fund than before.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Reduction in Price of Ford Products

The war is over and war prices must go. Effective at once Ford Cars, Trucks and Tractors will be sold F. O. B. Detroit with the following prices:

Touring $440, Touring Starter $510, Runabout $395, Runabout Starter $465

Chassis $360, Coupe Starter and Demountable Rims $745, Sedan Starter and Demountable Rims $795, Truck Pneumatic Tires $545, Tractor $790.

The Ford Motor Co. makes this reduction in the face of the fact that they have on hand immediate orders for 146,065 cars and tractors. The company will suffer a tremendous loss while using up the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make the sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country. Henry Ford says: "The war is over and it is time war prices were over." There is not sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values. For the best interest of all it is time a real, practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to regular pre-war standing. "We are at your command with regular Ford efficiency in service and eagerness to fill your orders."

New Welworth Blouses

Appropriately Styled for Autumn Wear

These new Welworth Blouses that have just arrived have much to commend them. In the first place they embody that splendid character and excellence of workmanship that is always exemplified in Blouses of this favored make. The Welworth name in itself is a definite assurance of quality standard that always assures the fullest satisfaction. Coupled with this genuine worthiness, this unfailing goodness is the Welworth style distinction that would ordinarily be expected and found only in far more costly Blouses. FARM DEPARTMENT.

Kill The Lady Killers.

An exhibit of "lady killers" the kind found in too many homes, is being put on in different parts of the State of Washington by the Washington State College extension department and the United States Department of Agriculture. The attendance wherever the exhibit has been held has been in the hundreds, both men and women finding much of interest.

Among the "lady killers" are found the washboard, the sad iron, the scrub brush, the water pail, the short-handled dustpan, the ax, and a number of implements with which many women are obliged to do their work.

To offset the "lady killers" was another exhibit of ways and means of lightening work in the home. In this were included "kitchen jitneys"—a type of tea wagon—iceless refrigerators, washing machines, plans for simple water systems, fireless cookers, fruit and vegetable driers, oil stoves, portable gas makers, and hydraulic rams. Several manufacturers showed light and powder plants suitable for farm homes at the cost anywhere from 5 to 25 cents same exhibit. Small conveniences were also displayed. Getting more conveniences for doing work into the home is the aim of every home-demonstration agent. Last year, thru their advice and by their aid, thousands of labor-saving devices and conveniences were installed in country homes, thereby lessening the housewife's work and increasing her efficiency, comfort, and enjoyment of life.

Keeping Farm Accounts An Aid to Better Profits.

Farming is a business, and, to be successful it must be conducted in a businesslike manner. It involves the production and sale of commodities, just as does manufacturing. The business man, whether in factory or on farm, should be constantly considering two questions:

- (1) What profit is my business making?
- (2) How can that profit be increased?

The first of these must be answered before an intelligent effort can be made to answer the second. Proper accounting leads directly to the answer to the first question, and hence it is essential to any well-thought-out plan to increase profits.

The problem of the farmer is to meet conditions on his own farm in a way that will give him the greatest net returns, year in and year out, for the use of his capital, his labor, and his managerial ability. Before he can be considered a successful farm operator he must produce results that will cover the value of all these. Capital can earn interest without labor on the part of its owner, and labor can earn wages without owning any capital. The farmer, utilizing both in the conduct of his business, should secure returns that will cover both interest and wages. Not until both of these have been more than covered can any profit be credited to the farming operations. Nothing but return in excess of interest and wages can properly be considered as net profit.

There is reason to believe that many farmers, owing to a lack of proper records, do not know what returns they actually receive, nor how these compare with what they should receive for their work and the use of their capital. Doubtless many are living on the interest on their capital, making small wages or none, and no net profits.

Write the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin 511, Farm Book-keeping, which may be had upon request.

May Introduce Parasites As Aid Against Corn Borer.

It is possible that parasites which destroy the European corn borer may be brought to the United States to help in controlling this pest. Dr. L. O. Howard, Chief of the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, has just returned from Europe where he made an extended study of the borer and its enemy parasites in the cornfields of France and Italy. He reports that the corn borer is to be found in nearly every European field, but that its ravages are not severe, probably due to some natural control which checks the insect.

In the United States the European corn borer does considerable damage in some portions of the country. In Massachusetts the damage to the sweet corn in 1919 was estimated to be between 5 and 10 per cent of the crop. It seems evident that there is not, as yet, the natural means of control which evidently does so much to save the European fields from disaster.

The department has been active in the effort to eradicate or control this insect in order to prevent its spread to the great corn-growing belts of the South and Middle West. The insect normally has a wide range, but, though it has been in this country for 10 years, it has been unable to spread far from the original infestation spots.

There is some ground for hope that damage by this pest this year will be less than was sustained last year. The European corn borer differs from all others in that it attacks all portions of the plant, with the exception of the broad leafy parts. Its attack sometimes results in very serious injury to the plant, and it is this phase of feeding activity which makes the insect a dreaded and dangerous enemy.

Increased Costs Compel Farmers To Avoid Waste.

With the increasing price of land, feed, and the higher cost of labor, it is becoming necessary that the farmer eliminate, as far as possible, any waste. He must make use of all the by-products of his business much the same as the manufacturer does. Corn is produced in practically every section of the country, primarily for the grain, and frequently the stover is disregarded.

Properly cured stover is relished by live stock, but that which is left in the open during disagreeable weather is far from being palatable or nourishing. Stover protected from the time it is cut in the field is a valuable feed for young stock, idle horses, and cattle that are being carried over the winter on cheap ration.

The best way to handle corn stover is by means of the shredder. This method makes it possible to get it in the barn before the feeding qualities have been injured by the weather. Enough room should always be reserved in the barn to accommodate a good supply of stover. Hay may be safely stacked out, but it is unsafe to try to stack shredded stover. Care must be taken to give the corn ample time to cure before it is shredded, for it may heat in the mow and become worthless.

Top dressing the winter grain crops such as wheat and rye and in the South oats, is highly advisable. Manure thus applied protects the crop from winter injury as well as adding to its plant food. For best results on winter grain the top dressing must be light enough to avoid all danger of smothering, nor should enough manure be applied to induce an overgrowth of straw and consequent lodging of the grain in the spring. Incidentally, if grass has been sown with the grain, a light top dressing is one of the best methods of insuring a "catch."

To Get Winter Eggs.

Now since you have culled your poultry flock it is very necessary to give the chickens good, clean, well ventilated quarters. Then with proper feeding farmers should get eggs during the winter months when prices are always high.

Circular No. 66, prepared by the poultry department of the College of Agriculture, is now available and will give you valuable suggestions on feeding for winter eggs. This contains a practical feeding ration used on the Experiment Station Farm. Write and ask for one.

Uncle Sam's Pied Pipers.

Spasmodic rat extermination campaigns are of course beneficial, but to secure lasting results constant warfare must be waged against the rat, say specialists of the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture. The necessity for this is plain in the fact that rats begin to breed at three months and have from 6 to 10 litters a year, with an average of 10 young to each litter.

Specialists of the Department of Agriculture for years have made extensive studies of rats and methods of exterminating them. No matter how badly a house may be infested with rats, these experts maintain, the use of the methods perfected by them will absolutely, and without doubt, rid the house of the rodents.

Throughout the United States health authorities are advocating the use of these methods and gratifying results are being secured. Thus Kansas has designated a special "rat day." Cincinnati is spending thousands of dollars in a rat campaign, and similar movements are being conducted at Norfolk, along the Gulf Coast, and in many other cities. In addition the bureau is constantly giving advice to hundreds of correspondents.

"Rat-proofing" of buildings is the basic step in rat extermination. Food should be protected and sanitary methods employed for disposal of waste food. Where rats may die in the walls poisoning is not recommended, but where this condition can not result barium carbonate worked into almost any kind of food is the poison to use. Snare traps, often called "guillotine traps," are the most effective in trapping. The traps should be placed in every part of the house that rats frequent. One or two traps are not enough. The traps should be baited with fresh meats, seeds, nuts, vegetables, fruit or any other food.

The bureau will be glad to advise any one regarding the correction of any rat condition, upon receipt of full details. Letters should be addressed to the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington D. C.

TOBACCO CONSUMPTION RAPIDLY INCREASING

During 1919 there were placed on the American market 39 billion cigarettes, nearly eight billion cigars and 427 million pounds of chewing tobacco and snuff. Exports were: over 16 billion cigarettes and 766 million pounds of leaf tobacco, the latter valued at more than $250,000,000. Imports of leaf tobacco amounted to $86,000,000. Revenue collected in 1919 amounted to $205,000,000, of which North Carolina contributed the biggest share $67,000,000. New York and New Jersey ranked next in revenue.

"DOES WHAT THEY SAY IT WILL DO"

Hampton Had Not Seen a Well Day in Six Years—Dreaded to See Night Come.

"At the time I began taking Tan-lac," said Marcus A. Hampton, 113 Pope Street, Louisville, Ky., "I had not felt well a single day in six years."

"My stomach was so badly out of order," said Mr. Hampton, "that no sooner did I get thru eating than I would bloat up with sour gas and have the worst sort of pains shoot through my chest. I could not even eat the lightest kind of foods and feel comfortable afterwards, and at times could not retain anything I had eaten. I had lost fifty pounds in weight and was alarmed about my condition, for often I had such bad spells that I thought my time had surely come. I actually dreaded for night to come, as I couldn't sleep much and always felt as bad in the mornings as on going to bed, if not worse."

"Well, I was never able to find anything to give me an appetite and start me up hill until I got Tan-lac. Almost as soon as I began taking this medicine I commenced to climb. I am just now on my fourth bottle and have regained ten pounds of my lost weight already."

"My appetite soon got a new start and my stomach trouble began to lose its grip, and when I finished my second bottle I was feeling like a new man. Ever since then I have been eating just anything I want and I always feel fine afterwards. The gas has stopped forming on my stomach entirely and I never feel a touch of indigestion. I am always glad when night comes now, for I can sleep like a child and get up in the mornings feeling fine, ready for a hearty breakfast and a hard day's work. I am glad to recommend Tan-lac, for it is one medicine that I believe will do all they say it will."

Tan-lac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean, in Horse Branch by Olaton Drug Co., in Rockport by James Browning, in Cromwell by Wallace & Porter, in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr., and in Melleny by S. J. Tichenor.—Advertisement.

PASTOR DENOUNCES "RELIGIOUS" DANCES

When the American National Association of Dancing Masters named a slow minuet type of dance "the Wesleyan," in honor of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, along with their protest to the Methodist church to remove its ban on dancing, Rev. J. H. Stratton, of York, characterized their efforts as "a silly, silly stream of moral infamy." He said he expected the dance would soon be called the "Wesleyan wiggles," and that others would take such names as "the Episcopal embrace," "the Congregational canter" and the "John the Baptist bounce."

RIO GRANDE SHIFTS COURSE.

Approximately 100 acres of Mexican territory is now on the American side of the Rio Grande as a result of the river changing its course during its recent flood stage. The area, which is in the lowlands 10 miles of Brownsville, will, according to an agreement, between the United States and Mexico, remain under Mexican jurisdiction. It is not "announced" whether it will be "wet" or "dry" in the spiritual sense.

If your child starts in its sleep, grinds its teeth while sleeping, picks at the nose, has a bad breath, fickle appetite, pale complexion, and dark rings under the eyes; it has worms; and as long as they remain in the intestines, that child will be sickly. HOW AN EGGSHELL MAKES COFFEE CLEAR

At first sight there seems no sufficient reason why the dropping of an eggshell or two into a pot of coffee should clear it of grounds, says the "Sunday American." A less economical housewife will use some of the white of the egg, but this is not necessary, for enough of the albumen remains in the shell to perform the apparently impossible act of causing the larger particles suspended in the coffee to sink to the bottom.

The actual cause of the sinking of an object is not at first clear. It is easy to say that an object which is heavier in proportion to its size than the liquid in which it is placed will sink to the bottom by the attraction of gravitation and the pressure of the atmosphere, but this can only be done by reason of the movability of the molecules of the liquid. An iron nail can be laid on a cork, yet it will not sink through the cork, although the cork is lighter than water. Articles heavier than water sink in water because the molecules are free to wriggle away like millions of infinitesimal marbles and let the heavy object sink down. In the case of the coffee grounds, however, they were originally at the bottom of the pot and have been carried upwards and held in suspension by the boiling process which carries a constant stream of water upwards.

When albumen is dropped into this mixture, it first cools the liquid a trifle, just removing it from the boiling point. Otherwise the albumen would harden. Then the albumen, being slightly heavier than water, and having a glutinous affinity for solid particles, sinks slowly through the water, carrying the coffee grounds with it. As water and albumen have no affinity, the albumen has no effect upon the coffee that is held in solution, but only on that which is held in suspension, and if the coffee be carefully poured it will run clear and free from the muddy color of a liquid in which the more solid particles have not settled.

THIS MAIL GETS BOOBY PRIZE

It would not seem probable that it would take a package seven years to go from the state of Washington to Oregon via U. COX FAIRY STORY ABOUT KENTUCKY TOBACCO NAILED

WRITER IN COUNTRY GENTLEMAN EXPLODES HIS YARN TO STATE FARMERS.

"JUST PLAIN PIPE DREAM"

Democratic Jazz-Candidate Told Growers That Slump in Market Was "Due to Failure to Ratify Peace Treaty."

It would seem that the whole campaign of Governor Cox is being based upon an effort to mislead the people. Just one more fabrication woven to force Kentucky farmers to believe in the League of Nations has been uncovered.

It will be remembered that Governor Cox came into Kentucky during his campaign for the Democratic nomination, making a number of speeches. A writer in a nationally-read agricultural paper, The Country Gentleman, discussing the tobacco situation in this state, goes on to say:

"A certain candidate for the nomination for President of the United States (speaking of Mr. Cox) came down to this country making campaign speeches and he made quite a name for himself by his analysis of conditions. His plea was that the bottom had dropped out of the market because the United States had refused to ratify the Peace Treaty. Writer Made Inquiry."

"I happened along a few days later, and having read what the candidate had said endeavored to find out the real reason for the drop in the market and the actual condition in regard to foreign buyers. One banker in Paducah, who has been in touch with tobacco market conditions for twenty-five years or more, summed up the situation as well as any man I met. I began by asking him whether the refusal to ratify the Peace Treaty was responsible for the disastrous slump in the market."

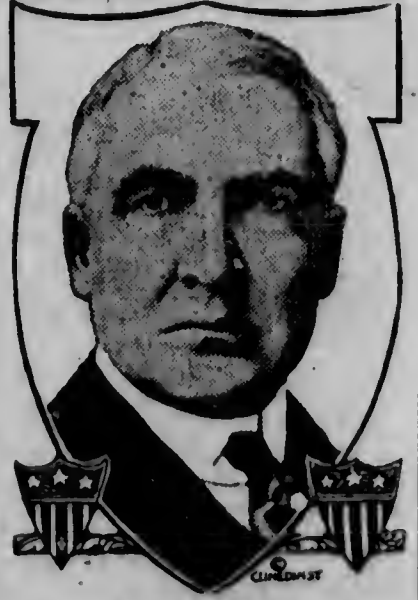

"No, sir, I should say not," declared this banker emphatically. "The man who says it merely shows his ignorance. The Peace Treaty did not have a darned thing to do with this tobacco market. First of all, Germany and Austria, in former years, were heavy buyers of this dark tobacco. Well, they have been out of the market for several years now, and this year, treaty or no treaty, they could not come back."

"They have no money to spend on tobacco, truly wanted the tobacco bad enough, but it did not have the money to buy it with. The exchange rate is so low that it could not afford to buy with Italian money, anyway."

England Has Enough.

"All tobacco imported into England goes into the King's warehouse, from which it is released upon payment of a pound tax. Now England has enough on hand for a year and a half's normal supply. So, as a measure of economy, a government embargo was placed February first on all importation of tobacco into England. Since then, England has been out of the market. Spain has always been a big customer of ours, buying 20,000 hogsheads or so a year. Spain has been off the market entirely this year. As a matter of fact, our bank here has handled the bulk of the deposits for most of these foreign buyers. But this year the deposits were not made as usual, and from what we could get from the buyers we knew that they would be pretty much out of the market."

HE MAY COME TO KENTUCKY SOON

Warren G. Harding.

Announcement just made in Louisville is to the effect that Senator Harding, the Republican nominee for President, may make a number of speeches in Kentucky in October. The State Speakers' Bureau also plans to have many noted Republicans from every section of the country to speak in this state.

Senator Harding's dignified, serious-minded utterances in the past few weeks have brought to him the praise of the whole country.

Illinois Central Urges Co-Operation Of Its Patrons

The Illinois Central Railroad, like other railroads, faces the task of trying to move a greatly increased amount of business with facilities which are entirely inadequate. It is therefore of the utmost importance to make the existing equipment more efficient through increased mileage. This can only be done through the fullest possible co-operation between the railroads and the shippers.

The shipper is allowed forty-eight hours in which to load cars, and the consignee is allowed the same time to unload. By expediting the loading and unloading, they have it in their power to substantially increase the number of cars available for serving the public.

The average car-load on all lines is only 70 per cent of the carrying capacity of the cars. Thus 30 per cent of the total loaded car mileage is not being utilized. If all cars could be loaded to full tonnage capacity the car supply would be increased by nearly one-third.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 118,846 freight cars per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added a total of 100,000 freight cars, at the rate of only 46,152 per year.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 2,569 locomotives per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added a total of 2,000 locomotives, at the rate of only 923 per year.

For ten years preceding Federal control, the railroads added to their equipment an average of 2,762 passenger cars per year, while during the 26 months of Federal control the Government added no passenger cars whatever.

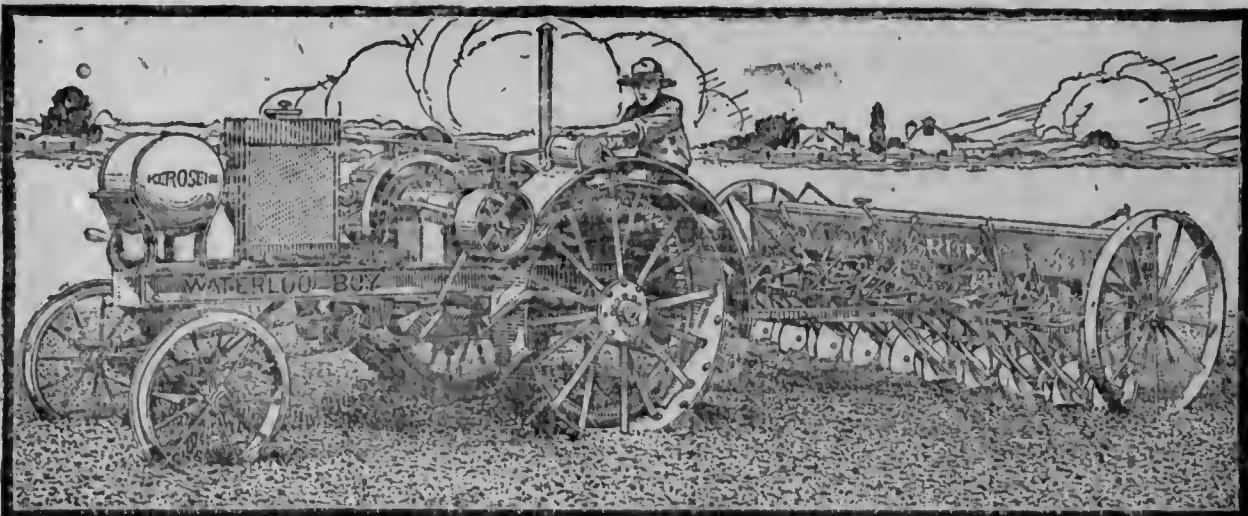

When the railroads went under Federal control on January 1, 1918, each railroad had upon its own line an average of 45 per cent of its own cars, while at the end of Federal control, March 1, 1920 each railroad had upon its own line an average of only 22 per cent of its own cars. The result of this broadcast scattering of the cars was that the general condition of the cars deteriorated and was much worse at the end of Federal control than at the beginning.

These are some of the reasons why there is a shortage of transportation, reasons which everybody ought to know, but we are now more concerned about the present and anxious to accomplish the utmost that can be accomplished with the impaired railroad plant with which we shall have to work until the cars can be brought home and put in shape and additional facilities acquired.

I urge that our patrons do their utmost to help us to keep the cars moving. When it is considered that freight cars spend one-third of their time in the hands of the shippers, it will be seen that the co-operation of the shippers is not only important, but absolutely necessary. The Illinois Central promises to meet its patrons more than half way and will do everything within its power to serve them.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central Railroad Company.

The Dependable Tractor that Burns Kerosene Completely

The 12-25 H. P. Waterloo Boy Tractor is just the kind of machine that we like to put into the hands of our customers.

There is nothing experimental about it. Its dependability has been fully proved in years of service on the farm. Every time we sell one, we feel the assurance that the owner is going to get fully satisfactory service from it. And that means a great deal to the future of our business.

Right along with its dependability for long-continued good work, there is another big feature that you will appreciate every day you use the Waterloo Boy.

It burns kerosene completely. Its patented kerosene manifold—one that you can get on no other tractor—converts all of the low-priced fuel into a highly-combustible gas, enabling the engine to get full power from every drop.

That saves engine trouble—no kerosene gets into the lubricating oil. There is no carbonizing of cylinders or fouling of spark plugs.

And it saves many dollars in fuel cost every year of its operation.

You are sure to like all of the Waterloo Boy's other features. It is simply made; easy to keep in good running order. The working parts, fully protected from dust, are placed where you can easily get at them, whenever necessary, through inspection plates and detachable casings. The engine, perfectly balanced and mounted on a solid foundation, runs without vibration—no racking of mechanism. Gears are steel-cut and case-hardened—practically everlasting. It is equipped with Hyatt Roller Bearings, famous throughout the world for conserving full power. All bearing points and gears are kept constantly in a bath of oil by a positive system of lubrication.

Be sure to come in some day soon and get fully acquainted with the Waterloo Boy.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

I am hugging a host of pleasant memories of my recent visit to Hartford, but a half column of defamatory newspaper notoriety is not one of them. I don't care so much for the Rogers watch stuff, but I am mortified over the charge that I hugged Bert Nall.

Albert Cox had better go slow or I shall tell the bear story on him. I love Albert, but I am like the Lord, whom I love I chasten.

I went to the ball game Sunday afternoon, and after settling in a broiling sun on the grand stand until the close of the second inning I could not recall any serious offense I had committed recently for which I should so cruelly punish myself, and I hooped it up town. "Those who have eyes to see let them see," was the language to the author of the apocalypse, and I don't have eyes to see base ball.

I have seen a few celebrities; very few. Not enough to boast of, but there were two people, now gone hence, whom I shall always regret never having seen. They were Bill Wheeler Wilcox and Ralph Waldo Emerson. The man has no heart who would not have known the author of Poems of Passion, and no head who would not with pride have known the immortal Emerson. These two essayists have written their inspiration against the effacement of the fleeting touch of time.

An English novelist is out in a statement urging husbands to lie to their wives a little sometimes to make them happy. But to a married man that advice will appear to come about six thousand years too late.

That fellow, Charlie Wedding, who is guarding convicts on some mountain road construction work, is some smooth bird. When he gets real "dry" he proceeds forthwith to arrest a bootlegger and confiscate his stock. I am going to apply to the Governor for a job of guarding convicts on mountain road work.

I'd like to forget Eck Rial, but I am reminded of him forty times a day. There is a delivery man in Central City, who drives an old gray horse to a one-horse wagon, and looks like Eck. I am also reminded frequently of the "Kaiser," but our street corner pop-corn king, I notice, still has the scallops on the tops of his sacks.

The stranger in a community has his limitations. There will be a fourteen car circus at Greenville Friday. I have a pocket full of complimentary passes, with no friends to give them to. But I will—no, the Madam will see this.

Life's chief pleasure is in looking forward to events that never occur.

Idleness is thievery against the community, to which every one owes a useful service.

Nature deals with men in multitudes, and takes little account of the fortunes of individuals. It directs the destiny of aggregates without counting the cost of personal sacrifices, in the achievement of its ends. The frost of a single autumn night closes forever the summer-long concert of the winged insects of the field.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

Judge Cook took Mrs. Henry Carson, Mrs. John B. Wilson and my wife to the poor house Tuesday. I haven't talked with Carson and Wilson since their wives returned, but somehow my wife don't pear to be satisfied with the home surroundings quite like she used to be.

Bat Nall swears by everything good and bad that this is going to be his last week to cut kindling, tote coal, make fires and shake up the shacks in his bed when he gets up of mornings.

This little cold spell makes a fellow in B. V. D's with little or no top dressing on feel like he was a September Morn with nothing on but a fog wave.

I. D. Claire says he feels outraged over the fact that I told the little story of he and Battle hugging each other. Mr. Claire may think it dog-gon strange (I know I do) but Bat has not spoken to me since and if either of those birds ever harbored such a thing as real friendship for anybody, I have, so it seems, lost with each.

The employee who most faithfully looks after the small details of his employer's business is safely on the road leading to that department, separated from the rest of the concern by doors upon the outer side of which may be found the word "PRIVATE."

We would be willing to bet two bits that that newfangled dough-mixing apparatus Bill Schlemmer has put in his bakery has appliances for making a lot of big holes in a loaf of bread.

Bring me your junk and get your fertilizer, seeds and farming implements.
